

PERMITTING, LICENSING AND CLAIMS AGENCIES

Streamlining your permitting and licensing process can save time, money and provide exceptional customer service to your constituents. When you create a central, digital, repository of all documents and information, employees, contractors and citizens will have access to the information they need, immediately—from the office, the field, at home or anywhere—via a web browser, portal or app. All mobile compatible.

Everyone will have access to the latest documents and you can house digitized paper documents, photos, videos, maps, drawings and GIS information. Plus, you can set security and access rules for each document type.
